

I consider phone spam to be an unethical solicitation.
I have no agreement with these people, salesman or the companies they represent. I had been solicited by the newspaper I was already subscribed to for example. I now use their competition as a result.
My time is valuable working 2 jobs and I don't need what little family time I have tarnished by the phone ringing for someone that I have no business dealings with whatsoever and will likely never have any dealings with due to this call.
